Term 3 Week 7

This week we had a fantastic Book Week Parade, with a brilliant selection of costumes! Our students (and parents!) should be proud of the great designs and effort that went into the costumes. Thanks to parents who helped select the two most impressive costumes from each grade.

Next Friday we will hold a Father's Day Stall, with all gifts costing $5.00. Each class will head down to the library during the day to purchase a gift. One gift per child is allocated and there may be another gift available at the end of the stall. Please ensure your child brings their money in an envelope/bag with their name on it.

Our Zoo trip and Senior Camp are the following week. Monday 4th September is our whole school excursion to the Halls Gap Zoo. From the Zoo, our senior students head to camp and return Wednesday 6th September.

If your child is not attending the Zoo excursion on Monday 4th September, they will need to be kept at home, as all staff are on the excursion. If your child is in Grades 3 to 6 and not attending Senior Camp on Tuesday 5th and Wednesday 6th September, they attend school with the junior students on those days.

Hopefully we have some warmer weather over the weekend!

Club 1878 takes a different attitude to programming during Vacation Care. Club1878 will take the line of allowing children in attendance on each day of selecting up to a maximum of four activities to engage with during the session. Once selected, the educators will set up areas in the room – taking into consideration social distancing and safe measures advising children of the time each activity will be presented. Families need to be aware, and take into consideration, the possibility that not all resources are guaranteed to be available for every session; resources are subject to availability and demand.

What a beautiful winters day today!!!! Spring is on the way and just in time as we have begun taking some of our learning outside over the last couple of weeks. We have practiced our spelling words in the mining area, and practicing our numeracy fluency in the sunshine. The last couple of weeks the Jr Studio have been working hard on planning, editing and now typing their final copies of their Book Awards, gosh we have some very creative minds here in the Jr Studio. Over the next two weeks students will begin their illustrations, then publish and then we will start reading their books to then vote for student choice, illustrations and teacher choice.

We would like to finally welcome our new friends to the classroom. It has been a great process testing water to make sure the environment is safe and healthy for our fishy friends. Today was the day we say hello to Apple, Bobbi and John. Our studio was so excited to name our friends and we are looking forward to taking care of them. Here are some snaps of our friends and us watching the fish TV 😊
